Profile

Russell Markham is a Chartered Building Surveyor qualifying as a professional member of the Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors in 1999.

Head of Building Consultancy. Russell is responsible for the growth and performance of the division. Valuable experience has been gained in both the construction and building surveying industry over the last 20 years.

Following successful completion of the degree Russell continued his employment as a Building Surveyor for Malcolm Hollis LLP. Following relocation to Brighton in 2002, Russell joined Stiles Harold Williams as a Chartered Building Surveyor.

Project Experience

Russell has undertaken all core building surveying services on all types of properties for both individual and commercial clients.

Clients have included investment organisations, financial institutions, retail & leisure companies, individual landlords, tenants and other professional companies. Instructions continue to be undertaken for clients including:

- Building Surveys/Pre-Acquisition reports
- Party Wall Issues
- Planned Maintenance Advice & Development Monitoring
- Defect Analysis & Contract Administration/Project Management
- Reinstatement Cost Assessment
- New Construction Schemes & Refurbishment Works
- Architectural Design

Russell's experience includes vacant and occupied premises in residential and commercial buildings. Further experience has been gained with large retail shopping centres and medical centres. Specialist fields have been established in Dilapidations, Contract Administration roles, Party Wall Issues and Defect Analysis.
